

WINGS

We invest in high-potential indie games. Our flexible model is built to support creative independence and long-term success

And psst... we only fund studios founded by women and marginalized gender developers

Our model is flexible, transparent and can pivot between self-publishing to white label publishing the minute it's needed.

Team

Our team are industry experts on self publishing, marketing, content creation and influencer marketing. We are with the developers every step of the way. We share our knowledge, experience and contacts with them.

While work across timezones (we are open 24/5) we are tight knit team and love collaborating together on bringing the best to the teams in our portfolio.

We stay small, creative, and our absolute end goal is to make the teams we work with rich and proud.

WINGS Committee

We are the only fund (or publisher) whose investment decisions are made only by women

Our committee is only composed of women from international, diverse backgrounds and areas of expertise in the indie sphere.

The committee is deeply connected to the market and to our industry. We review each pitch as a team.

Committee members are rotated on a regular basis.

WINGS ARE

WOMEN LED TEAMS

We identify teams and their games with commercial potential that others would leave behind.

1

BEST TERMS

Our terms are fair and attractive, making us the preferred partner for the ambitious indies.

2

RELEVANT SUPPORT

We are not a one model fits all, we adapt and deploy all resources for a successful release.

We get things done.

3

ACCESSIBLE & PERSONAL

We build strong connections with indies, also those not pitching right now. We provide feedback, support and insights. Our style is honest and personal

4

INDIES OF THE FUTURE

The teams we work with will be the indies that write the future of the games industry.

5

Signing Strategy

Identifying good teams and games

- ★ Will it be fun to work with this team?
- ★ Do we enjoy playing the game?
- ★ Do we have the support they are looking for?
- ★ Will our investment help them achieve higher profit?
- ★ Will we make at least 3x return on our investment?

WINGS MODEL

WINGS MODEL

We invest up to 500k USD

Our terms are more attractive than most publishers and project funds

WINGS 60% - Developer 40% until recoup, then WINGS 25% - Developer 75%

- Sweet spot for investment is 150-300k
- Aim for 3 months to one year turnaround
- We can pivot quickly between Self Publish and White label
- All publishing services done inhouse.

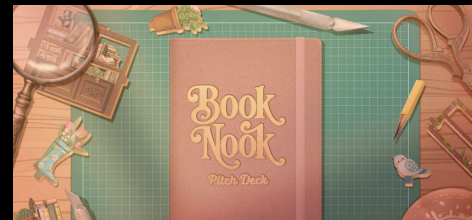

SELF PUBLISH

WHITELABEL

FINISHING FUNDS

SELPUBLISH

200-500K USD

For more experienced teams, we encourage building internal capabilities rather than relying on us, especially for studios aiming to remain independent.

WINGS supports primarily through business development, while collaborating closely on strategy.

Within the first month of signing, we develop a full go-to-market strategy together, presented in person at the team's office.

Teams also have the flexibility to pivot to a white-label publishing model if needed.

WHITELABEL

100-300K USD

For teams not yet ready to hire and scale internally, WINGS provides hands-on support across key areas:

- Go-to-market strategy
- Influencer campaigns
- Paid advertising
- Content creation
- Business development
- PR (including with external partners)

Within the first month, we visit the team to present and align on the go-to-market strategy.

TBA

100-150K USD

We have identified a growing need for finishing funds, particularly for underserved teams, whose path to funding is often longer. To address this, we are introducing the WINGS Finishing Fund.

Projects are evaluated using the same criteria as our other investments, with an emphasis on near-term release potential.

Criteria and Strategy:

- Less than 6 months to release
- Focus on converting players at launch, rather than long-term wishlist building

Support to success

We handle as much as possible in-house to maintain strong collaboration with developers while keeping costs and risks low.

When we take on hands-on work— such as content creation or influencer campaigns, we charge at cost, funded through the developer's marketing budget. All expenses and budgets are jointly reviewed and approved by us and the developer.

MENTORSHIP

Go-to-market strategy

All teams receive a full GTM strategy, including:

- Major marketing beats
- Community strategy and tone of voice
- First-party partnership opportunities
- Influencer strategy
- Release and porting strategy
- Steam page optimization
- PR strategy
- Content strategy

In addition, WINGS can directly support execution through:

- Trailer production
- Social media content creation
- Influencer campaigns
- Press announcements

Execution is billed at USD 40/hour, covered by the game's marketing budget and subject to team approval.

Post-Release Support

We ensure each team has a clear post-release strategy, including plans for:

- Sales and discounting
- Bundle partnerships
- Additional versions and content

BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Platform & Storefront Relationships

Depending on the team's needs, we can either:

- Facilitate introductions and support teams in leading the conversation, or
- Represent teams directly in platform discussions

We combine these relationships with up-to-date insight into the deal landscape, enabling us to advise teams and help them secure the best possible outcomes.

DISTRIBUTION

Physical and Digital Distribution

Every aspect of a game's release matters. We support teams with the right partners and expertise to ensure effective distribution.

This includes:

- Digital distribution strategy and partners
- Physical distribution partnerships
- Regional publishing through third-party partners

We continue working closely with teams long after release, supporting their games on the long term.

PLAYTEST

Playtesting & Feedback

At each milestone, we review progress and playtest the game to assess its current state.

Our in-house playtester leads on gameplay evaluation, while the full team contributes to structured feedback for developers.

We also partner with Indium for professional playtesting, allowing us to step back and validate that the game meets audience expectations and quality standards.

MENTORSHIP

Studio Support

Making a game is exciting, but it can also be overwhelming. We support teams not only with their game and go-to-market strategy, but also in building strong, sustainable studios.

Our support ranges from navigating team challenges to shaping the long-term direction of the studio. We also connect teams with trusted partners for QA, porting, and other key services, ensuring we remain a relevant and valuable partner throughout.

We're especially proud when studios return to work with us on their second game (such as Malapata Studio and FOOT), and when new teams come to us through recommendations from our existing portfolio.

What we are looking for

In 2026 we are on path to become profitable and we are looking for one more investor to join Landfall Games, Casey Yano from Mega Crit and Innersloth on this journey.

We are raising USD 2 million on the same terms as our existing investors, and are looking for a partner who shares our ambition to build WINGS further through collaboration and knowledge exchange.

Thank you
